Wellness Exam, includes COHAT (dental) consultation: $79.00

A wellness exam is a comprehensive medical examination of a pet who appears healthy, as opposed to an examination of a pet who is ill. A wellness exam may also be called an annual check-up or a physical. Wellness exams are also used to establish Client-Patient-Veterinarian relationships. The focus of a wellness examination is the maintenance of optimal health. This exam includes a complete whisker-to-tail physical, nutrition evaluation, routine diagnostics to screen for diseases, administration of vaccinations, COHAT (dental) consultation and discussion of preventative measures to maintain the best health of your pet.

Vaccine Booster (Tech appt): $15 injection fee

Nevada law requires an exam prior to prescribing any medication, including vaccines. Veterinary Technician vaccine appointments are available for patients who have established client-patient-veterinarian relationships with a Pet Network Community Hospital Veterinarian. This is a follow up appointment to administer the second vaccine of 2 part booster series. If you have not established care with a Pet Network Veterinarian please schedule a Wellness exam.

COHAT (dental) Consultations: $79.00

COHAT stands for "Comprehensive Oral Health Assessment and Treatment." The term is used to describe veterinary dentistry procedures involving the examination and treatment of diseases of the mouth. This includes radiographic evaluation of all of the teeth, visual evaluation, and treatment of diseased teeth including extraction of severely diseased teeth. All COHAT procedures require an initial consultation.

During the consultation, we will:

- Review your pet's medical history
- Perform a full physical exam, head to tail
- Perform an oral exam
- Discuss the recommendations for your pet's dental health
- Generate a cost estimate for the COHAT procedure
- Discuss preoperative blood work
- Discuss the plan for the day of the procedure

COHAT procedures require full anesthesia to fully evaluate the mouth and administer treatment. We perform a physical exam during the consultation to make sure your pet is a good candidate for anesthesia and to determine the appropriate anesthesia protocol. A complete blood panel may be recommended or required prior to the COHAT procedure (not included in the exam fee). We require pre-anesthesia blood work on all dogs 7 years and older and cats 9 years and older. Pet Network Community Hospital has an in-hospital laboratory where blood work can be performed. We recommend running pre-anesthesia blood work at the time of the consultation so that we can identify, plan and address any health issues prior to the day the procedure is scheduled.

There is considerable variability among animals in the time required to fully address their dental health which can range from simple teeth cleaning to the extraction of all the teeth in the mouth. During the consultation, we provide an estimate for the cost to complete the recommended procedures. COHAT procedures start at $380.00 for evaluation and cleaning under anesthesia and additional cost is based on the time and materials necessary to treat abnormalities. For more information, please visit our COHAT frequently asked questions page.

Surgical Consultations: $89.00

Surgical consultations are required for all surgical procedures except spays and neuters. The goal of the surgical consultation is to evaluate your pet and to make sure they are good candidates for the procedure and for anesthesia. We will perform a full physical exam during this consultation and determine a surgical plan. We will discuss the nature of the procedure, expected outcomes, possible complications, and cost. We will also discuss the need for preoperative blood work and/or additional diagnostics. For a list of the surgical procedures we offer please see our surgical procedures page.
